Potential for conflict of interest arises when it is likely that Employees could be influenced, or it could be perceived that Employees are influenced by a personal interest when carrying out their duties. Conflicts of interest that lead to biased decision-making may constitute corrupt conduct.

A conflict of interest exists where loyalties are divided. A person can have a potential conflict of interest if, in the course of their employment or engagement with a member of the Ironbark Group, any decision they make could provide for an improper gain or benefit to themselves or an associate. A conflict of interest may be defined as an issue that may occur when personal interests, the interests of an associate or relative or a duty or obligation to some other person or entity, conflict with a person's duty or responsibility to the Ironbark Group.

Some situations that may give rise to a conflict of interest include, but are not limited to, situations where Employees have:

- financial interests in a matter a member of the Ironbark Group is dealing with or Employees are aware that their friends or relatives have a financial interest in the matter;

Employees must notify their supervisor or the Company Secretary if the individual suspects that there is a conflict of interest or a potential conflict of interest. If an Employee is uncertain whether a conflict exists, he or she should discuss that matter with his or her supervisor or the Company Secretary and attempt to resolve any conflicts that may exist.

Employees must not submit or accept any bribe, or other improper inducement. The offer of any such inducements are to be reported to the Company Secretary.

3.9 CORRUPT CONDUCT

Employees are expected to not act in ways which may cause others to question their commitment or loyalty to Ironbark. Ironbark seeks to be known as an organisation that does what it says it will do.

of the Ironbark's business and not for any private or improper purpose, unless specifically authorised to do so, in each instance, by prior approval of the Managing Director or, in his/her absence, the Company Secretary. Employee use of Ironbark's electronic communication systems for non-business purposes must be kept to a minimum, not interfere with the Employee's professional responsibilities, not diminish productivity and not violate this Code or any of the Ironbark Groups' policies.

Any messages transmitted by Ironbark email are treated as business messages and constitute property of the Ironbark Group.

All books, records and accounts of each member of the Ironbark Group must accurately reflect the precise nature of transactions recorded. Employees must comply with prescribed accounting and business procedures and controls at all times.

Ironbark Group property or assets are not to be used for any individual's private commercial purposes.

3.11 OUTSIDE EMPLOYMENT

Ironbark supports involvement of Employees in community activities and professional organisations. However, outside employment or activity must not conflict with an Employee's ability to properly perform their work for Ironbark, nor create a conflict (or the appearance of a conflict) of interest.

Before accepting outside employment or a position on the board of directors of another company or non-profit organisation, you must carefully evaluate whether the position could cause, or appear to cause, a conflict of interest. If there is any question, consult the Company Secretary.

Where the proposed employment or position relates to an outside organisation that has or seeks to have a business relationship with Ironbark or compete with services provided by Ironbark, Employees must obtain prior written consent from:

- the Managing Director in the case of a member of Senior Management; or
- a member of the Senior Management in the case of any other Employee.

Employees may accept public office or serve on a public body in their individual private capacity, but not as a representative of Ironbark. If such public office would require time away from work, the Employee must comply with Ironbark's policies regarding leave of absence.

3.12 VALUE AND PROFESSIONALISM

Professionalism is conduct which fosters and preserves our reputation as individuals and the reputation of Ironbark. Employees are obliged to conduct themselves ethically and to achieve the highest quality in their work. In order to achieve this, Employees are responsible for improving skills, knowledge and competency required for their individual position and level of responsibility.

Employees are all required to sign a Confidentiality Agreement which reinforces the ethical and professional expectation that no Employee will divulge materially sensitive information regarding the Company, or any outside entity with which Ironbark deals if that information is considered confidential by that outside entity.

3.13 PRIVACY

Ironbark respects your privacy and the privacy of others. Employees should familiarise themselves with, and comply with, the privacy laws of Australia, the Ironbark Privacy Policy and, where applicable, the jurisdiction of their business unit. If Employees have any questions in relation to privacy, they should contact the Company Secretary.

3.14 COMMUNITY AND ENVIRONMENT

Ironbark is a responsible corporate citizen and actively supports the communities in which we live and work. Employees are expected to uphold Ironbark's commitment to pursue good corporate citizenship while engaging in its corporate activity.

Ironbark supports and encourages Employees to actively contribute to the needs of the community. If an Employee wishes to make such a contribution (such as donations or sponsorship) on behalf of Ironbark, consult the Company Secretary for approval.

Ironbark is committed to doing business in an environmentally responsible manner and identifying environmental risks that may arise out of its operations.

If an Employee is aware of, or suspect, an action that is not environmentally responsible or in breach of the applicable laws and regulations, he or she should report the matter to the Company Secretary.

4. COMPLIANCE WITH THIS CODE

This Code is a public document and as a result, adherence to the provisions of this Code is fundamental to the Ironbark Group's reputation in the business community.

Employees must report any suspected breach of this Code to the Company Secretary. No retaliatory action will be taken or permitted against a person who reports a suspected breach of this Code in good faith (provided that person is not responsible for the breach).

The Board has introduced various policies which are designed to foster ethical and professional conduct (Security Trading Policy, Continuous Disclosure and Information Policy, Board Charter, Audit Committee Charter and Risk Committee Charter which includes our Risk Management Policy).
